Forecast for Monday 06 May 2024

Weather: A dry and cloudy start to the day. However, the cloud will break up through the morning to give some bright or occasional sunny spells. However, showers will be developing by late morning, some of these heavy at times, with the risk of thunder and lightning possible. Any showers gradually easing through the evening. Becoming quite misty and murky, especially in the valleys.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 600m: 40% overnight improving to 90% by day.

Low Cloud and visibility: Poor to moderate in any valley mist patches and thundery showers otherwise good or very good.
