Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
A very windy day across the United Kingdom on Tuesday, with stormy conditions for a time across the north of Northern Ireland, and a good part of Scotland. Heavy rain will quickly clear southeastwards from England and Wales to leave afternoon sunshine, but rain, sleet and further snow will only gradually pull away from northeast Scotland.

Outlook for Wednesday and Thursday:
Further rain for western areas on Wednesday, with this becoming persistent over high ground for a time. This will move eastwards later in the day, clearing eastern areas through Thursday morning. Then some sunshine for most, but also some showers, particularly in the east.
