

National Severe Weather Warning Service

CANCELLED

Chief Forecasters Assessment

Brisk easterly winds will bring further snow showers into eastern and northeastern Scotland and parts of northeastern England on Tuesday. Further accumulations in excess of 10cm are expected on ground above 300 metres in these regions. At lower levels, particularly in urban areas on or near the east coast, accumulations will be much smaller, especially by day.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Alert of Snow

Valid from 00:05 on Tue, 19th Mar 2013 until 23:59 on Tue, 19th Mar 2013

Snow showers are expected to continue to affect parts of eastern and northeastern Scotland, as well as higher ground in northeastern England. Meanwhile, at lower levels in northeastern England showers will tend to turn increasingly to snow through the course of Tuesday. The public should be aware of the risk of disruption to transport through this period.
