

National Severe Weather Warning Service

Chief Forecasters Assessment

Showers, some thundery, are affecting many parts of Northern Ireland.

Local torrential downpours are likely with 10 to 20 mm falling in an hour and as much as 40 mm in 3 to 4 hours. The thundery rain will clear from the west through the first half of the night.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Rain

Valid from 20:00 on Tue, 22nd Aug 2017 until 23:55 on Tue, 22nd Aug 2017

Heavy, thundery downpours may cause further localised flooding across parts of Northern Ireland this evening. Flooding will mainly affect roads but perhaps also some properties and businesses.

The warning has been extended west across remaining counties, and with an increase to the likely level of impacts.

The rain will ease towards midnight, with county Antrim last to see the rain clear.
