

This polar projection map of the Arctic region displays a complex weather system. The map features numerous high (H) and low (L) pressure systems, each with associated numerical values. Isobars are drawn in green, magenta, and blue. Wind vectors are shown as blue arrows, and fronts are indicated by red and blue lines with triangles and semicircles. The map includes a grid of latitude and longitude lines and a central compass rose.