

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Tuesday 03 Mar 2009

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Rain or sleet will eventually clear the far southeast of England, then wintry showers across western areas at first, especially over hills, mountains and moors will spread to many places during the day. Some will be heavy with a risk of hail and thunder especially in the south and west where it will be windy again.

Outlook for Thursday and Friday:

It will remain cold with further wintry showers likely in many places on Thursday. Friday should be bright in many places and should eventually turn a little less cold, but also cloudier as a weak weather front approaches from the west.

(C) Crown Copyright 2009. Published by the Met Office.